READY FOR YOUR NEXT STEP?

Decluttering your physical environment is the first step in making space, so you can create the life you want to live!

It doesn't stop here however, as there are other areas to declutter too, such as your digital devices, your social media and of course, your own headspace!

I touch on these areas in my book 21 Hacks to ROCK your Midlife, and write regularly about how clutter impacts your productivity, creativity and morale at my blog www.catcoluccio.com/blog.

I've also put together a special bundle that will supercharge your decluttering efforts and help you to keep building on the foundation you've created!

Check out the Declutter to Relaunch Bundle HERE on the next page.

I'd love to connect, so reach out and let me know how your decluttering journey is going!

Enjoy your beautiful home!

30 day LOVE YOUR HOME DECLUTTERING CHALLENGE!

HI, I'M CAT!

And I'm a recovering clutter-holic.

As someone who has homeschooled, has launched multiple businesses, has been a professional musician, has dabbled with various artistic pursuits and has a passion for learning and trying new things - I've struggled with the clutter that has accumulated with each new venture!

I've also learned the hard way how clutter negatively affects your productivity, your creativity and your morale - especially in your midlife season when there is already so much going on!

My own decluttering journey is a work in progress, and along the way, I've discovered tips to help, and have researched to understand more about the impact of clutter on your life. This research was the foundation for the hacks about clearing the clutter included in my 21 Hacks books - in particular, 21 Hacks to ROCK your Midlife!

Want on going support and encouragement for your decluttering journey, so you can create space for the life you really want to live? Find me daily in my free Rocking Midlife® group for women, or get in touch via my website www.catcoluccio.com
